

This map illustrates the geographical context of the study area, centered on Toronto, Ontario, Canada. Three concentric circles are drawn around Toronto, representing distances of 250 km (155 mi), 500 km (310 mi), and 750 km (466 mi). The map covers a large portion of Eastern Canada and the surrounding United States, including parts of the Great Lakes region and the Atlantic coast. Major cities and highways are labeled, providing a comprehensive view of the study area's location and connectivity.

